

Maneuvers of Leaders of Major Parties Today Summarized.

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—A statement by Governor Alf M. Landon that "forces alien to our American form of government seek to destroy our country" gave a possible indication today of one campaign argument to be used by the Landon forces.

Observers here noted that, in a telegram congratulating Mrs. Eleanor Gridley, Chicago school teacher, on her 90th birthday, the Republican presidential nominee said: "In this greatest crisis since the Civil War, when forces alien to our American form of government seek to destroy our country, I am happy for the opportunity to acknowledge through you our debt to the men and women teachers who today are unselfishly striving to keep alive the spirit of real Americanism along our children."

While Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton was in New York making new claims of a big victory in November, National Chairman Charles B. Goodspeed busted himself in Chicago on a forthcoming drive to raise a $3,000,000 campaign fund. The party will sell $1 "unit" shares in campaign "stock."

Hamilton told New York newspapers that Landon would carry President Roosevelt's home state of New York.

Welcomed back home to Chicago, Landon's running mate, Col. Frank Knox, described the Governor's nomination as the result of a real "grass roots" movement and said he was a man of the people.

The future attitude of Senator of Idaho toward the Republican ticket was a subject of renewed speculation in view of a letter he sent to R. P. Parry, Republican state chairman of Idaho.

Parry said he was willing to seek the senatorial nomination but he reserved the right to "exercise full freedom of view and of discussion" on national issues and candidates.

Parry indicated he wrote his letter to make his position clear so that Idaho party leaders could agree on some other senatorial candidate if they wished.

Philadelphia, June 19.—(AP)—Flag-draped Philadelphia extended the hand of welcome to the advance guard of Democrats today while speculation over the platform to be adopted by the party's national convention next week intensified.

Leaders of the New Deal were clustered in Washington, drawing up suggested statements of policy on such controversial issues as farm aid, money and relief.

There was no authoritative indication as to the planks to be submitted on some of these issues, but word from the Capitol said Secretary Wallace may seek to have the convention's resolutions committee approve a farm plank embracing four features.

The plank would endorse: The present AAA soil conservation program with subsidy payments to farmers.

The principle of crop production control within constitutional limits. The present reciprocal trade agreement policy.

Some plan for commodity loans to farmers.

The question in the minds of some administration leaders, it was reported, is whether the resolutions committee will approve the suggestions advanced by Wallace and his aides.

This question was raised, it was said, because some leading Democrats of congress have opposed crop control and other AAA measures.

FIRST HANGING UNDER KIDNAPING LAW TODAY

Meatler, Okla., June 19.—(AP)—Arthur Gooch, 27, convicted kidnaper of two Texas officers, was hanged at the state prison here today—the first person executed for kidnapping under the federal Lindbergh law.

The gallows trap was sprung at 5:06 A. M., and 15 minutes later Gooch was pronounced dead.

A crowd estimated at more than 350 persons, including eight women, witnessed the execution.

The condemned man's death-cell farewell to his six-year-old son, Billy Joe, was "don't get into any trouble, son." The boy had pleaded with death-row guards, "don't hang daddy."

The case was carried through all channels of appeal, twice reaching the U. S. Supreme Court, and Gooch was hopeful until late yesterday when President Roosevelt declined to intercede for the second time, saying:

"Use of the executive power to modify the sentence imposed would be to render negatory a law carefully considered by the congress and designed to meet a national need."

LEGISLATURE FAILS TO FINISH PROGRAM

Law-Makers Go Only Half Way in Cut of Sales Tax

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—(AP)—When the smoke cleared away from the senate's midnight session, examination of relief bills passed and not passed showed today that the Chicago plan to use half the sales tax for relief apparently cannot become effective without further legislation.

Unofficial predictions were made that Governor Horner might veto the Adamowski bill, passed 26 to 12 by the senate at 2 A. M., to increase from one cent to a cent and a half the portion of the three per cent sales tax used for relief.

"The effect of it will be to deprive the state of the use of the money. It accomplished what its sponsors sought, to tie up the money without doing anything to help the relief situation," said Horner.

It was expected that Mr. Horner and Finance Director K. L. Ames, Jr., would confer during the afternoon.

Financial experts said complications were caused by a relief bill passed in April and another which the second special session left on its calendar when it recessed until August 4.

The result, they said, was that the extra half cent of the sales tax would be earmarked for relief but could not be spent for that purpose or any other without further action.

The April law, making the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission the allocating agency after July 1, limited to $2,000,000 monthly the amount that could be disbursed to the counties.

This is approximately $700,000 less than the amount which would have been raised under the Chicago bill, passed over the opposition of Horner Democrats early today, to use half of the sales tax for relief. It also was about $230,000 monthly less than is raised at present under the third of the sales tax and three per cent utility tax.

Both houses failed to pass the Adamowski companion bill to appropriate the extra half cent of the sales tax to the IERC. Legal experts said even passage of this bill, unless accompanied by an amendment of the IERC law, would not release the extra funds voted by the senate at its after midnight session.

The house at a perfunctory session completed the sine die adjournment of the fourth special session and the recessing of the second until August.

Unless another special session is called, the tangle on the sales tax disbursements apparently cannot be remedied until August. For two weeks Horner has contended that Chicago and Cook county have failed to attempt to settle the relief question locally, while Finance Director K. L. Ames, Jr., declared the increased use of sales tax for relief was an effort to "wreck the state finances."

The midnight session at which Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democrat, got the bill passed, was delayed until 2 A. M. for the arrival of two Chicago Republicans.

Monster Rally of Republicans to Be Feature Ogle Fair

Secretary Ernie Landers of the Ogle County Fair association, today announced the eighty-third Ogle county fair and horse show to be held at the fair grounds north of Oregon September 6, 7 and 8. The opening day, Sept. 6 will be given over to a horse show along the lines of the one staged so successfully last year. One of the largest entry lists in years is already assured for this feature. Several Dixon horses will be entered in the horse show.

Secretary Landers is jubilant over the outlook for the two days of harness racing which promises to race lovers, an excellent field of entries. On Sept. 7, Labor Day, a monster Republican rally and booster affair is being planned and the committee in charge hopes to be able to secure speakers of national importance at this time.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OBSERVED OVER SOVIET RUSSIA

Many Expeditions In Area Get Excellent Views Of It

Moscow, June 19.—(AP)—Instruments of scientists held secrets of the sun today after a brief eclipse which threw a shadow from the Mediterranean to the Sea of Japan.

The results, when tabulated and co-ordinated, may add materially to man's knowledge in several important scientific fields.

Racing across the Soviet Union at 2,000 miles an hour, the phenomenon obliterated the sun long enough at various points in the 50-mile totality zone to allow many expeditions to make observations.

Some took pictures, others made spectrographic studies, radio tests occupied still others and members of several expeditions sought new evidence in support of the Einstein theory.

STEPHENSON'S BAR ASSN. IS PROBING CASE

Grievance Committee Studies Alleged 'Fixing' Attempt

Freeport, June 19.—(Cont.)—Efforts to expose what they term a deliberate plot to "frame" testimony on behalf of the plaintiff in the case of Josephine Shuneman, administratrix of the estate of her daughter, Burdette Claire Cleveland, vs. Arthur V. Gage, which has been on trial in circuit court since last Monday, and in which the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages, the defense presented two deputy sheriffs to impeach testimony offered by the plaintiff herself.

The sensational charge made on the witness stand by Frank Bradley, Freeport, when he testified that he had been offered five per cent of the jury award to give false testimony for the plaintiff, has tended to take interest away from the case itself and direct it toward Attorneys A. G. Harris and W. H. Winn, Dixon, who are representing the plaintiff, Freeport lawyers, who are members of the Stephenson County Bar Association, and other attorneys of the local bar are following the case with interest. Should it develop that Bradley's charges are substantiated it is expected the local grievance committee will make a complete report to the Illinois State Bar association.

Motion Overruled
The plaintiff rested its case shortly after the opening of court today. The defense then offered a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty and this was overruled by Judge Harry Edwards, Dixon.

The defense then called as its first witness, Jean C. James, local deputy sheriff, with a view of discrediting and impeaching the testimony of Mrs. Shuneman, who told court and jury that Bradley came to her home during the noon hour of Tuesday, June 9, and told her that he saw the fatal accident wherein Miss Cleveland lost her life on the night of March 19, 1935; that the defendant was the driver of the car which caused the death, and that attorneys for the defense had offered him $1,000 not to appear as a witness for the plaintiff.

Making reference to notes he had made since June 9, Mr. James told of being engaged by the defense attorneys to check the movements of Bradley, starting last Tuesday morning, June 9. He gave a detailed account of the movements of the witness throughout the entire day, contending that Bradley could not have been at the home of Mrs. Shuneman at any time between the hours of 9:20 A. M. and 6:42 P. M. This was a direct contradiction of the story told by Mrs. Shuneman when she testified in her own behalf. The deputy sheriff told of taking up Bradley's trail Tuesday morning and never losing sight of him until he, Bradley, reached his home at 12:19 o'clock, noon. He again took up the trail at 12:40 o'clock, when Bradley started back to work at the Home Utilities, 8 South Galena avenue, and kept a constant watch on him until after the supper hour that night. Bradley was followed according to defense attorneys, in order to support their claim that he was acting entirely in good faith in aiding in exposing the alleged plot and in an effort to observe him make contact with Thomas Rockey, who Bradley alleged, offered him the proposition of five per cent of the verdict for the alleged false evidence. Rockey was acting, according to the story of Bradley, as a representative of the plaintiff's attorneys.

Saw Letter Delivered
Mr. James opened his testimony by telling of following Bradley last Tuesday morning, about 9:30 o'clock, from the Home Utilities office to the court house where Bradley, according to the witness, met Attorney Harris in the court room and handed Harris a letter. This was exactly at 9:30 o'clock, the deputy sheriff said. The letter, which was purported to have been in Bradley's handwriting, was as follows:

"I got to a point with Mr. Rockey for your O. K. Rockey had me up where the Cleveland woman was hit and I could see the faces of people who drove past so I could testify it was Art Gage and that I saw him hit her. Rockey doesn't know when I will be called and I've got no authority from you about my pay which Rockey says

Two Little Chicago Boys, Brothers, Drowned in Pine Creek at Pines State Park

Were Visiting Uncle in CCC Camp When They Met Death

John Youngman, aged 12, and his brother, Robert, 10, were added to a swelling list of drowning victims at the Pines state park yesterday afternoon when they fell into a hole in Pine creek while wading. Mrs. Kathleen Gould, 1006 Western avenue, Kewanee, Ill., and Edward Begyn of the same address were the only eye witnesses to the tragedy, which occurred shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The bodies were not recovered until about two hours later.

To a Telegraph representative Mrs. Gould, who was visiting with friends near the state park and who is slightly acquainted with the hazardous creek course, told her version of the double tragedy.

"Mr. Begyn and I were near the scene and I observed the boys wading on the old cement slab where the cars used to ford the creek. Suddenly the smaller of the pair slid to the other, 'Let's go swimming'."

"I called to them and told them not to go off the cement as there was a very deep hole there. The little fellow paid no heed but stepped off the cement and waded out about two feet and down he went. The older stepped off the cement to assist him and he too, sank beneath the surface. I turned my head as I realized that neither of the boys could live in that cold, deep water. When I looked again I saw them going down for the last time. I ran to the bridge and called to several CCC workmen and notified them of the double drowning."

Rescuer Near Death
In a few minutes several men, were at the scene, which was just north of the first rustic bridge near the entrance to the park. The cement slab referred to by Mrs. Gould formerly served as a drive across Pine creek but has since been abandoned and traffic uses the new rustic bridge.

CCC workers summoned from the camp organized a searching party and one of their number, Ralph Rogers, 45, a cook, who joined others in diving into the deep hole, came near drowning when he was seized with cramps in the cold water. He was dragged to shore and rushed to the hospital ward at the camp and two hours later was reported to have fully recovered. Captain Starbuck of the CCC camp took personal charge of the rescue work and the life saving equipment from the Dixon fire department was called for. Chief William Mitchell and Dave Kelly hurrying the rescuer and drag hooks to the park.

It was about 2:45 before the body of Robert, was recovered from beneath the rustic bridge. The older boy's body was recovered about 3:30 P. M.

Dr. C. Castro, CCC camp physician, with other assistants and Illinois Northern Utilities Company employees from Oregon and Dixon rendered artificial methods until about 4:30 when hope was despairing and the bodies were removed to the Farrell undertaking parlors in Oregon. Dr. J. C. Aiken, corner of Forreston, conducted a double inquest last evening at Oregon, the jury returning a verdict of accidental drowning. The bodies will be taken to Chicago, this evening for the funeral and interment.

Were Visiting Uncle
The boys, accompanied by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Youngman, 9334 South Ada avenue, Chicago, came to the park Wednesday to visit their uncle, Harry O'Neill, a member of the CCC camp. The parents returned home Wednesday evening and the boys were permitted to remain with their uncle, planning to return with him to Chicago this evening. They were enjoying a holiday in the state park and had wandered to the creek near the entrance where they had been fishing, abandoning this sport to wade in the water. Besides their parents, they are survived by a brother, Thomas, aged 16 and a sister Mary Lou, aged 7.

MEMORIAL ARCH TO BE MAINTAINED LENOX SAYS

The memorial arch on Galena avenue south of Second street is to be completely overhauled and redecorated this summer, Commissioner Clyde Lenox of the department of public property announced today. The condition of the structure requires that it either be removed or repaired and the general public opinion has been favorable to retaining the memorial, which was erected originally as only a temporary structure to serve in welcoming home the veterans of the World War.

The wide publicity which the arch has brought to Dixon and the general public request for its preservation have prompted Commissioner Lenox to arrange for the necessary repairs being made at once.

The facings, which were originally of building board are to be removed, the interior supports replaced and reinforced and a sheet metal facing substituted. The electric wiring system will be inspected and repaired and the arch repainted. Contractor John Hofmann started work on the improvement this morning.

FLAMING PLANET SEEN HERE BLEW UP IN 1000 B. C.

Will Be Brighter in Sky Tonight Say the Astronomers

Williams Bay, Wis., June 19.—(AP)—The new star which blazed up suddenly in the sky last night is exploding at the rate of 500 miles a second, Dr. Otto Struve, director of Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago, reported today.

The specter was determined by spectrum studies made by Dr. George Van Biesbroeck of the observatory when the nova was first observed in the telescopes last night, Dr. Struve said. Light from the star showed that hydrogen and helium gas was being thrown off by the sun at that rate.

The explosion, the observatory director explained, was what made the star visible to the naked eye.

Was Identified
Before some mysterious force started the stellar blast, Dr. Struve said, the star was of the 15th magnitude, and could be seen only in powerful telescopes. Astronomers' sky maps of 1930 identified it at that size.

As a result of the explosion, the star brightened to the magnitude of 2 1-2 by last night, Dr. Struve added. Tonight, he said, it will be still brighter.

Although the light of the explosion reached the earth only last night, the star actually "blew up" 2,000 and 3,000 years ago, Dr. Struve declared. This is true, he explained, because the star is so far away. Van Biesbroeck estimated the distance at two to three thousand light years.

SEEN BY AMATEUR

Delphos, O., June 19.—(AP)—Amateur Astronomer L. C. Pelletier reported today discovery of a new star and described it as the first nova found since 1934 that is visible to the naked eye.

Pelletier, who makes observations through a six-inch telescope mounted in his garage-observatory here, reported his discovery to Harvard University, which said two other astronomers, each had seen the new nova.

A nova is a star which flares brilliantly and then returns to its original magnitude after a few weeks.

Pelletier's discovery was shared.

SERIOUSNESS OF PROSPECT IS STRESSED

Government Board's Special Report Is Issued Today

Kansas City, June 19.—(AP)—An oppressive blanket of early heat, extending from Alaska to Florida, brought new omens to warn farmers of an old enemy—drought.

Along with the threat of a dry season came more reports of its companion scourge, grasshoppers, preying on midwestern crops and giving rise to calls for outside aid.

Reports of the season's highest temperatures were numerous, with the mercury hitting well above the century mark.

From Alaska, "The Land of the Frozen North," came reports of an unofficial reading of 110 degrees at Seward Wednesday. The Alaskan danger was in forest fires more than in drought, but showers checked two outbreaks.

A crop-killing drought created an emergency in the Dakotas and Montana, and crops suffered from dryness also in parts of Wyoming, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. Livestock was being moved from some sections because of a feed shortage.

Grasshoppers Swarm.

A survey disclosed that grasshoppers were swarming over grain fields in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Montana, and spotted infestations were reported in Illinois, Wisconsin and Colorado.

Dr. Leonard Haseeman, head of Missouri university's entomology department, said the "hopper scourge" was worse than that of 1931-32, but not as bad in Missouri as in some of the northern states. The damage will increase, he said, with more dry weather.

So keen was the drought emergency in North Dakota, Gov. Walter Welford dropped his primary

Dixon Man Suffers Broken Leg Today in Unusual Mishap

George Curtis, employe at the state highway department offices, was the victim of an unusual accident at 12:15 noon today, as he walked along the sidewalk on Hennepin avenue between First and Second streets when a car belonging to J. H. Schneider of Clinton, Iowa, which had shortly before been parked on the east side of the street in front of the Beier bakery started moving and crossed Hennepin avenue to the west side of the street, where it climbed the curb. The front bumper struck Mr. Curtis as he walked north in front of the Painter's Supply Co. store, knocking him down and fracturing his left leg. The car then crashed into the front of the building, breaking a window and damaging the front to some extent.

Several persons witnessed the car in motion without a driver, or were attracted by the crash. Mr. Curtis was unaware of the nearing machine until he was struck, and he was quickly placed in another car and rushed to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital. Had he been a few steps further north, he may have been crushed to death between the front of the car and the building. He had but recently recovered from a serious injury to one of his legs and will be confined to his bed for some time as the result of today's accident.

President Knows Nothing of Party Platform Planks

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt decided today to forego his usual week-end boat trip in order to be close at hand for the wind-up of congress.

Asked at a press conference whether he had any comment on the general program thus far adopted by congress, now that it was about to adjourn, the president said he did not think so. He added that the legislature had yet to quit and he wanted to be cautious.

Asked if there would be a World Court plank in the Democratic platform, he replied he knew nothing about the platform.

He would not comment on the tax bill compromise, saying he had not acquainted himself with all its particulars.

OLD EPITAPHS

By Joseph Fort Newton

A FRIEND of mine is fond of the quaint, grim humor often found in epitaphs on old gravestones. The humor is sometimes unconscious, but for that reason all the more delicious.

As for example the inscription on the grave of a departed auctioneer, which ends with the words, "Gone." Or the tribute by his friends to a photographer, "Here I be, taken from life!"

In the vestibule of a famous New York church is a tablet in memory of a former minister. It gives the usual dates of birth and death, and speaks of his pastorate of more than thirty years, adding the consoling words, "There remaineth therefore a rest for the people of God."

This, too, is vouched for as authentic. "Here lies the body of Obadiah Wilkinson, and of Ruth, his wife, their warfare is accomplished." Another, "His end was this—he was run over by a bus."

But at times my friend finds one that makes him ponder, like the following in dog-Latin, which he translates, "What we have, we have. What we are, we owe. What we will be, remains. Praise God!"

It is truly a "graven sermon," and worth thinking about. What we really have, what has become a part of ourselves is our forever, and not even bandit Death can ever take it from us.

"How much did he leave?" we ask when a man dies. If he leaves it, he did not really have it. What has been wrought into our very being, we have for all time, and take it with us when we go.

Yet it is still true, "What we are, we owe." It is actually ours, but none the less we are indebted for it to others who lived before us, or with us, and gave it as their gift or legacy.

"What we will be, remains" beyond our ken. We cannot picture it. It is a gift, "praise God," as the sleeper tells us, trust His goodness, and wait on His good will which endureth forever.

The future, like the days gone by and the days that now flit by, is in His keeping, in whose great Hand we stand now and always.

Folks who had occasion to be out late last evening and others in their homes, who are star lovers and who study the heavenly constellations were thrilled by the Aurora Borealis, or Northern Lights, as the vision of beautiful lights, is more commonly known. ## THE FIREWORKS PROBLEM TO THE FORE

This is none too early for full and free consideration of fireworks, and the casualties caused by them, with an eye to vigorous effort to make the 1936 and subsequent Fourth of July celebrations actually safe. Thus, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, the American Museum of Safety and other organizations, including the Pyrotechnic Industries, Inc., are to be praised and encouraged in their endeavor, outlined at a three-day meeting in New York, to find a workable course of remedial action.

Careful notice of what was said and done at the sessions is recommended to parents and all others concerned with the safety problems that the annual Independence Day observance brings. Louis Resnick, of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, summarized findings of a survey of 1935 Fourth of July accidents which caused thirty or more deaths and 7738 injuries. C. H. Fleming, representing the fireworks manufacturers, said that misuse and the products of irresponsible manufacturers were largely to blame for the casualty lists. His suggestion that the manufacturers are ready to co-operate in eliminating the plainly dangerous types of fireworks gives promise that at least something definite will be done by next July in the interests of safety, and that aside from whatever legislation the contemplated fireworks control may produce.

There seems little likelihood that much effective legal prohibition of fireworks, as sought by some of the conference speakers, can be immediately realized. Obstacles are obvious. A great many people, perhaps a majority, do not believe the annual casualty lists warrant a ban on fireworks. Many still think a Fourth without fireworks would be no Fourth at all. Moreover, fireworks manufacturers and dealers don't look kindly on anti-fireworks legislation. That's natural enough.

Nevertheless, there is handwriting on the wall. More and more communities throughout the country have tightened their fireworks regulations during recent years. Many have forbidden sale of all except sparklers, and some have clamped down on all forms, "harmless" or not. Such restrictions will most certainly be increased gradually until the casualty list is substantially decreased. The trend is plain.

The preferable method of making the Fourth safe is for the manufacturers to go earnestly about the job themselves, by inventing safe fireworks and producing only that kind. Maybe they can't do that. Unless they do something of that sort, however, the other alternative of legislation—and on a statewide scale which would be effective by contrast with here-and-there local bans—seems inevitable, sooner or later.—Worcester, Mass., Gazette.

DEMOCRACY SCORES AGAIN.

In these days of tumult and shouting here at home, announcement of Russia's new form of "democratic" government comes with special significance.

At least, Dictator Joseph Stalin calls it "democratic" and the new Soviet constitution just released for adoption certainly bears a great many earmarks of democratic government.

There are, for instance, provisions for two parliamentary bodies to be elected by secret vote of the people; guarantees of equal suffrage, freedom of speech and of the press, and promises of protection to small private property.

In the aggregate, of course, the Soviet constitution offers a pretty heavily watered sort of democracy. But it is significant that Russia has gone even this far toward a semblance of the American constitutional structure.

BRIDES WILL LIKE THIS.

The bride's promise to "obey" her husband is under fire once more. The National Council of Congregational and Christian Churches will take up the proposal to omit the word in the near future on the strength of pleas from clergymen everywhere.

Recommendations to the council label "obey" a "needless and irritating word," and one must agree that covers the case. For the term had its origin a long time ago, when "obey" meant just that to a wife.

The modern view of marriage, on the other hand, sees it as a co-operative institution. The word doubtless is repeated these days as mere formality, anyhow, so dropping it from the marriage ritual will make little real difference. It will merely bring the ritual up to date.

GOOD AND BAD LOBBYISTS.

Anti-lobby legislation was killed in the house of representatives by a vote of 263 to 76. That is the net result of Black inquisition, which was supposed to obtain information to enlighten the members of congress upon activities of lobbyists—other than ours.

Difficulty in passing legislation to curb lobbyists is apparent. The aim, of course, is to curb the bad lobbyists, which are the other fellow, without disturbing the good lobbyists, which are ours.

Some of the most offensive lobbying in recent years has been carried on by public officials who were putting the squeeze on members of congress. It does not appear that any curb will be put on these offenses against public policy as it ought to be.

If the Black inquisition has not been financed for a summer occupation that will enable the committee members to spend the hot season in some ideal climate, then some kind of a lobby investigation will be renewed by the next congress, we may presume.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

One of the men who spied the bunch of Tinkles, said, "I've a hunch that, with our little cork guns, we can capture every one."

"Now, if they run, our guns will pop. I'm sure that that will make them stop. Then we will march them through the woods. That will be lots of fun."

"All right," the other answered. "You have stated what we ought to do, so you talk to the little folks and find out what they say."

"I will stand near, all set to fight, so rest assured you'll be all right. The king will be pleased with our work. This is our lucky day."

Wee Scout heard them, and he said, "We will not run, so come ahead and capture us. Remember, though, we're strangers on this land."

"We dropped down in a big box kite, just praying all would be all right. If we all could be friendly, I think that would be just grand."

"We'll see about that later, lots."

You youngsters pick out funny spots to land on," one man answered. "We must take you to the king."

"If you just march and start no fuss, there'll be no shooting done by us," "Okay," replied brave Copy. "We are game for anything."

Into a wood the Tinkles went, and about a half an hour was spent in winding in and out among the very funny trees.

Then suddenly, they reached a place that brought surprise to each lot's face. "Don't stop," exclaimed one of the guards. "Keep moving, if you please!"

Wee Scout shouted, "What a sight. I wonder if I'm seeing right. All of the trees now are light bulbs. The quick change startled me."

"Don't fret, you Tinkles! March along, and, likely, nothing will go wrong. As far as I'm concerned, this is as thrilling as can be."

ASHTON NEWS

MRS. AUGUST KLINGEBILL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

ASHTON—Katie E. Mehlhouse passed away at her home in Ashton at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning after many years of suffering, having been an invalid for over 35 years. She was born at Hertzofen, Germany on Dec. 18, 1854, and at the time of her death had reached the age of 81 years and 6 months, being the youngest and last member of her family.

She came with her parents to America in 1866 when 12 years of age and on December 23, 1886 was united in marriage to August Klingebill, the fiftieth anniversary of which would be this December.

Surviving are her husband and two sons, Carl of DeKalb and William of Ashton and one grandson, James Klingebill.

Funeral services will be held at the late home at 1:30 o'clock Saturday.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

DESIGN for the proposed Oregon territory commemorative stamp, it is expected, will be a map of what now is Oregon. Washington, Idaho, and parts of Montana and Wyoming. Date of issue probably will be July 13 or 15. Walla Walla, Wash., and Lewiston, Idaho, will be first day cities, and one or two other representative cities may be chosen for first day sales.

Potato tax stamps will be withdrawn from sale on June 30. The set of 13 stamps totals $5.18. Collectors who want the stamps before their sale is discontinued should address and make out their money orders to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C.

Although an additional printing of the 10-cent airmail stamp of 1926 was discovered in the east recently, specialists believe that the 10, 15, and 20-cent airmails of that year soon will be withdrawn from sale at the Philatelic Agency in Washington, and then will rise in price. Better get a set at face, while you can.

Another stamp that's being harder to find is the Maryland commemorative, issued first in 1934. And so is the 3-cent airmail of 1928.

Australia may be the first territory of the British empire to issue a King Edward stamp. Design for the new stamp already has been sent to England for royal approval.

Greece is preparing a new series of "regular" stamps to last for the next five years. There will be 16 values, and scenes in the history of the country will be depicted.

NEXT: What Polish nobleman lost his life in the American revolution?

urday afternoon and from the Evangelical church at 2 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. Parke O. Bailey, officiating. Interment will be made in the Ashton cemetery.

C. W. BROOKS TO DEDICATE ASHTON MEMORIAL BUILDING

C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor of Illinois and well known Legionnaire, will dedicate the new Mills and Petrie Memorial building in ceremonies to be held Monday evening, July 6.

Announcement of Mr. Brooks' acceptance was made Tuesday night by Senator George C. Dixon who has been instrumental in securing a speaker for the dedication and has given his legal services in connection with the building.

"Curly" Brooks, as he is known to his many friends, is a very popular speaker. Because of his simplicity and sincerity he catches and holds the interest of his listeners, wearing a thought pattern that leaves a lasting impression with his message.

Born in West Bureau, Bureau county, just 50 miles southwest of Ashton where his father was the pastor of a small community church, his early environment and educational background are those of the farm and the small town. He later resided in Dixon where his father served as pastor of the Congregational church.

At the same time, although he has lived in Chicago only a dozen years he has become an outstanding figure in the city, state and nation. His reputation as a fearlessly forceful and compelling orator has gone far before him. In other words he is the boy from the small town, the farm who has "made good."

Mr. Brooks is a past commander of Marine Post No. 273 of the American Legion (Chicago), a member of the "40 and 8", Veterans of Foreign Wars, and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross, American Navy Medal and the Croix de Guerre.

The program of the evening is yet only tentative, but it is planned to secure very good talent to go with the address. Special plans are being made to seat the huge crowd which should test the seating of the new gymnasium to its utmost capacity.

ASHTON BOY SCOUTS REORGANIZED TROOP

Boy Scout Troop 114, discontinued here since last spring is being reorganized this week and by next Thursday will be ready to apply for a new charter. Registration meeting of all boys interested is called for 6:30 o'clock tonight in the basement of the Mills and Petrie Memorial building.

The Ashton Woman's club, which is sponsoring the renewal of Scouting in Ashton, has selected a troop committee composed of Paul Charters, Dr. Arthur Peters, Lloyd Attag, Cuve M. Glosser, Joseph A. Roseler, Earl Pierce, Cecil Calhoun, and Raymond Kersten.

Robert Dean, the new Scoutmaster, plans to have an organized troop of 10 boys ready to apply for a troop charter at a combined meeting of the Scouts and troop committee on Thursday, June 25. Harold G. Boltz, Scout executive of the Black Hawk Area council will be present at this meeting.

Robert is familiar with Scout work, having been a member for eight years, first registering with the old troop 64 in 1926 under Rev. L. V. Sitter. He is a five year veteran Scout and while attending the University of Illinois was a member of Alpha Phi Omega, honorary Boy Scout fraternity.

Plans are being made for an extensive summer and fall activity program to include hikes, a short camping period, wood craft and nature study. Winter activities promise to be equally as interesting.

All boys of the community 12 years of age or older are eligible to join. Some of the boys have made a good start up the Scout ladder of rank, but there are many more who have not had contact with scouting before and who will be coming into the troop as tenderfoot Scouts.

In order to become charter members of the troop the boys should come prepared to pay the registration fee of 50 cents at tonight's meeting. Patrol and troop leaders will be selected as soon as the troop becomes organized.

BIBLE SCHOOL PROGRAM DREW LARGE AUDIENCE

The Methodist Episcopal church was packed Sunday evening for the demonstration program presented by the pupils of the Community Bible school. This program marks the conclusion of two weeks of instruction under the supervision of Rev. Parke O. Bailey, pastor of the Evangelical church, assisted by Rev. L. E. Winter, pastor of the Methodist church, and a staff of twelve teachers and assistants.

An interesting display in the basement of the church of the handwork accomplished by the young people during the two weeks of the school was inspected and much admired by parents and friends preceding the exercises in the church auditorium.

The opening and closing exercises presented the regular daily program of the school which included singing, scripture, recitation, prayer, and offering. The splendid memory work as demonstrated in the songs, Bible passages, and catechism given by each of the three departments gave evidence of the great value of this instruction to the young people.

The kindergarten department, under the supervision of Mrs. Parke O. Bailey, assisted by Miss Ruth Boyd, Miss Dorothy Ann Howards reported an average attendance of 96.29 from an enrollment of 29, and a collection of $6.71.

From an enrollment of 40 in the primary department, which was in charge of Mrs. Richard Sunday assisted by Miss Dorothy Peters, Miss Frances Jennings and Miss Nettie Corinne Attig, an average attendance of 97.25 and a collection of $9.01 were reported.

Miss Jessie Clover reported an enrollment of 38 with an average attendance of 36 in the junior department of which she was in charge, assisted by Miss Dorothy Dean, Miss Minnetta Hilliard and Miss Norma Jenkins. The collection from this department was $12.07. The collection for Sunday evening was $13.20.

VERLE DRUMMOND, AND CHARLENE GROVER MARRIED SUNDAY

Miss Charlene Grover, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Grover of northeast of Ashton, was united in marriage to Verle Drummond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drummond, in the impressive single ring ceremony performed at the Lighthouse Methodist parsonage Sunday afternoon, the pastor, Rev. A. Northrup reading the service.

The bride, attractively gowned in a suit of blue with white accessories, was attended by her sister, Miss Phyllis Grover, and the groom was attended by Edgar D. Shippee, a cousin.

Mrs. Drummond is a graduate of the Rochelle high school with the class of '36. Mr. Drummond has been operating his father's farm the past few years. Mr. and Mrs. Drummond will make their home on the Andrew Drummond farm just north of Ashton, where the best wishes of their host of friends in the community will follow them.

A large five ton Iowa semi-truck loaded with butter and eggs from Sioux City crashed at the Weishaar corner about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the driver apparently fell asleep and failed to make the turn north.

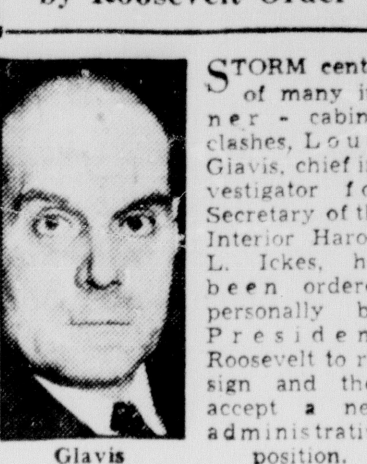

The heavy trailer buckled the cab in front of it as the truck plowed into the asparagus field just south of the bill boards. Fortunately neither of the two drivers were seriously hurt although one was quite severely cut above the eye.

A fire hydrant was damaged in the smash and the city water had to be shut off for some time Tuesday afternoon to replace the hydrant.

In scholastic records published Tuesday in the Daily Illini at the University of Illinois, Robert Dean is listed in fifth place in the School of Journalism with a last semester average of 45. Forty-five of the juniors and seniors in this school made grades of 4.00 better—a B average. The general university average is approximately 3, a C average.

Mrs. Clarence D. Sanders of Urbana visited last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Warner. She expects to spend part of the summer with her folks at Centerville, Miss., and later will go on to Boston, Mass. where she will spend several weeks with her daughter, Hazel and family. ## FIGHT WASHED OUT IS BOOKED THIS EVENING

Postponement Did Not Stimulate Ticket Sale

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, June 19—(AP)—Washed out in more ways than one, what's left of the heavyweight fight argument between Joe Lewis and Max Schmeling is due to be settled tonight in the Yankee Stadium.

Weather permitting, and it's even money the skies will be clear this evening, the 22-year-old American Negro will tee off on the German veteran a few minutes after 8 P. M. (Central Standard Time). If you believe all you have been reading about the affair, it will be all over with a drive and a pitch.

The one-day postponement, first in years for a major heavyweight match, failed either to rally any backing for the German's chances, already so minimized as to be scarcely discernible, or prompt a belated rush for the lonesome ticket-sellers.

Only one mob scene so far connected with the enterprise occurred yesterday at the old hippodrome, on Sixth avenue, where the police scored a decision over the working press in connection with the weighing-in. The experts didn't exactly take it on the chin but they were making no gains in the clinches before finally getting the momentous information that Louis scaled 198 pounds, Schmeling 192, and that both fighters were in absolutely perfect fighting condition.

The situation got so far out of hand that one bluecoat tried to chase Promoter Mike Jacobs, already considerably harassed, clear off the premises. Mike got back into the thick of things just in time to save his dignity and then, with a final glance at the dripping skies, announced the 24-hour postponement.

the proceedings inside the ring, also was the life of the postponement party. The young Negro took delight in the formal examination, grinned at Schmeling when the German put in a belated appearance, and joshed Promoter Jacobs.

"Oughter stayed home today," commented the chocolate soldier. "I like to play golf in the rain and you can see plain for yourself there ain't gonna be no fight. It might be fun to fight in the rain, anyway. How about it, Uncle Mike? Let's have it anyway. Or does you care about folks coming?"

Mike Concerned
Uncle Mike apparently did care. He bustled around, giving orders, and taking steps to conduct an extra day's drive for cash customers. He flatly rejected any suggestions further to mark down ticket prices, however. The promoter has decided to sink or swim on the $345 to $40 scale he started out with, subject to a few revisions he made earlier in the week. He won't sink but neither will he swim in the profits.

The payoff probably will be on a $600,000 "gate." This will mean somewhat less than $200,000 for each of the gladiators. In fistic parlance the bout is "off the nut" but by no such margin as all concerned had hoped, including the income tax collectors.

Under favorable conditions, an airplane can be seen from about 10,000 to 15,000 feet.

HOBART-KOKES MATCH FLAVORS DECATUR MEET

Hobart Advanced to the Third Round by Winning 2-1

Decatur, Ill., June 19.—(AP)—With the memory of three previous defeats to spur him on, Johnny Hobart, defending champion, today faced Wilbur Kokes in a quarter-final match of the Illinois amateur golf tournament at the Country club of Decatur.

Teammates on the University of Illinois links squad, Hobart challenged Kokes, now registered from York Country club, Chicago, for the No. 1 team position three times last season and each time lost one up decisions. Two of the matches went to the 19th green.

Hobart yesterday advanced to the third round by eliminating Leonard Rosenberg, Twin Orchards Country club, Chicago, 2 and 1, and Buddy Rust, Bloomington, 2 up. Kokes defeated Art Floberg, Sandy Hollow Country club, Rockford, 3 and 2, and Bob Price, Glen Flora Country club, Chicago, 2 up.

While the Hobart-Kokes duel was listed as the outstanding match of the day, Gus Moreland, Peoria, was still rated the outstanding challenger for the title. Moreland, shooting near-flawless golf with frequent bursts of brilliance, was never pressed yesterday. In the first round he trimmed Alex Welsh, Rockford, 5 and 4, and in the afternoon downed Jimmy Frisina, Taylorville, 4 and 3.

Others left in the running were: John Holmstrom, Rockford; Ray Croslin, Oak Park; Jack Cameron, Flossmoor Country club, Chicago; Lyle Hoffman, Urbana; and Steve Williams, Jr., Evanston Country club.

Two former champions were eliminated yesterday, Larry Miller, Quincy, dropped a 5 and 3 decision to Williams in the second round, Warren Dawson, titleholder during the first two years of the tournament, lost to Hoffman, 5 and 4, in the first round.

The New York bout begins at 8 P. M. CST, and the local card at 8:30 P. M. It is a card of seven bouts pitting Lester Phillips, Dixon, against Joe Smith, East Moline for three rounds at 147 lbs.; Roy Ackridge, Rock Falls, vs Tom Swarts, Peoria at 160 lbs.; Walt Warmick, Peoria, 147 lbs. against Pete Hantz, East Moline; Mickey Everhart, Sterling, 160 lbs. versus Jim Clark, Peoria, Bernie Stunkie, Steward at 126 lbs. against Clark Lewis, Peoria, five rounds, and John Balmer, Peoria, versus Ed Dempsey, Moline, at 126 lbs. also.

Here and There In Sports World

New York, June 19.—(AP)—Very latest fight dope: Odds on Joe Louis probably will shoot to 15 to 1 by post time tonight. . . . Louis was a 10 to 1 shot at midnight, with few takers. . . . Puzzle. Find an experienced fight critic who likes Schmeling's chances. . . . On the other hand, did any experienced fight critic tour own Eddie Neil except ed pick Braddock to lick Max Baer? . . . All the experts are agreed Max's only chance to win is to get in a "lucky" with a single punch right at the start.

Looks now like the fight will do the old flopperoo. . . . Spectators are in a rush to unload "cherce" seats at bargain prices. . . . Those who were told two weeks ago there were no $27.50 seats left will be interested to know there are scads of them. . . . Bill Carey, former president of the Garden, who bought 1300 ringsides, has turned back three-fourths of them. . . . Ouch! . . . Hype Igoe, veteran fight writer of the Evening Journal, says the difference between the two men is that where Schmeling has one good hand, Louis has two, either as deadly as Max's best.

More than 1000 newspaper men requested working press seats. . . . Mike Jacobs had to build two extra press boxes. . . . Even at that, he could only accommodate about 450 because of the non-workers who somehow managed to crash into the press section. . . . Representatives of some of the biggest papers in the country will have to view the obsequies for Schmeling from the grand stand. . . . Better bring your field glasses, boys.

Francis Wallace, author of "Kid Galahad," describes the fight as follows: "The big fight, a twentieth century-milk fund production at the Yankee stadium. . . . Associate producer, Mike Jacobs. . . . Original story by Tex Rickard. . . . Screen play by Francis Albertanti and Walter St. Denis. . . . Additional dialogue by Joe Jacobs. . . . Technicolor effects by General Phelan of the state boxing commission. . . . Leading man, Joe Louis."

SWAN SONG OF TIGERS BEING SUNG BY FOES

Cochrane's Crew Has Small Hope for Pennant

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're tuning up the swan song of the Tiger reign in the big league baseball jungle.

The experts are pretty much agreed now, that even if, as and when Mickey Cochrane's glands and Hank Greenberg's wrist are once again working order, only the mightiest kind of putsch can save either the American league pennant or the world's title for the badly-battered Detroit clan.

The Tigers are at low ebb for the year. They've just lost their sixth straight start, equalling their longest losing streak in three seasons, and with the Yankees' pounding power and the Red Sox's million dollar lineup hitting their stride as July 4 approaches, it seems a miracle is necessary to bring the Detroiters in.

The surprising Washington Senators made it three straight over Detroit yesterday with a 12-4 win, to put the Tigers 11 games off the pace of the New York Yankees. And with a three-game series with the New Yorks, and another with the Red Sox in the immediate offing, the outlook is anything but rosy.

Yanks at Detroit
The Yankees are in Detroit starting today, with three fresh wins over the Cleveland Indians in their bags. The last was chalked up yesterday by a 6-5 count, as slugger Lou Gehrig hammered a homer, two doubles and a single to go to the head of the big-league batting parade with a .390 average.

The Yanks' victory boosted their league to 4½ games over the Red Sox, who were handed a 1-0 trouncing by Johnny Whitehead's three-hit hurling for the Chicago White Sox. These results left the Senators in third place, but sank the Tigers to just one percentage point above the fifth place deadlock between the Indians and White Sox. The St. Louis Browns drew near to their exit from the league cellar by outclubbing the Athletics 7-12.

Meantime, the St. Louis Cardinals' lead in the National league was put on the fire. The Boston Bees, who have had their stingers working this week, made it three out of four over the Cards with a 4-0 shutout.
With the second-place Chicago Cubs rained out in Philadelphia, the Cards' edge was sliced to a mere game and a half. Wet weather also caught up with the Pirates in Brooklyn and the Reds in New York.

Medica, Flannagan Match Strokes In 1500 Meter Swim

Des Moines, Ia., June 19.—(AP)—Jack Medica, the Seattle husky, and Ralph Flannagan, Florida school boy, two of America's hopes for honors in the 1500 meters at the Olympics, match their powerful strokes in the mile event, feature attraction of the national A. A. U. swimming meet today.

Flannagan, who won the mile championship at Detroit last summer, whipped through the Birdland pool waters yesterday in 21:30.2 to win his heat in the preliminaries while Medica's faultless stroke propelled him to a mark of 22:03.3 for a first place in his heat.

Qualifying along with the two favorites were Bob Pirie of Toronto, Canadian champion; Dave Rider of Stanford University; Norris Hoyt of Yale and Jerald Rudig of the Huntington, Ind. Y. M. C. A.

Three other finale events were on today's schedule, the 220-yard free style, the 3 meter spring board diving and the 300 meter medley relay.

NEUTRALITY OF ADMINISTRATION IS THREATENED

Ickes and Lewis May Be Put on Spot in Illinois Division

Washington, June 19.—(AP)—The administration's attitude of neutrality in the contentions of rival factions among Illinois Democrats may be strained at the Philadelphia convention if the feud is carried into selection of a national committee.

Secretary Ickes is a delegate-at-large from Illinois with a one-quarter vote. Another in a similar position is Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who has steered clear of the factional trouble in Illinois.

If Governor Henry Horner seeks to defeat Patrick A. Nash, national committeeman, for election, as now seems likely, the secretary and the senator may have no alternative to taking sides in the party's internal strife except to pass their votes.

While together the two have but one-half vote their choice between Nash and a Horner candidate might be construed as indicative of administration favor—an action James A. Farley, national chairman, has sought to avoid since Horner and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago engaged in a bitter primary fight. Kelly is allied with Nash.

Ickes is believed to be more friendly to Horner than to the Chicago organization, having been recommended as a delegate to the convention by Michael L. Igoe, U. S. district attorney at Chicago and ally of the governor. Senator Lewis has remained out of the conflict, although himself a candidate in the recent primary. He was supported by both factions.

Although Farley has been quoted as saying he would seek to make peace in Illinois immediately after the convention, observers here thought it possible he would take a hand before then if opponents of Kelly and Nash insisted on trying to unseat the latter as national committeeman. The votes of Ickes and Lewis, irrespective of for whom cast, might cause the other side to believe the administration was not neutral and, consequently, make peace more difficult to negotiate.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Has ever reformers the world has ever seen are those who have commenced on themselves.—H. W. Shaw.

Do the truth you know, and you shall learn the truth you need to know.—George MacDonald.

Let the counsel of thine own heart stand... for a man's mind is sometimes wont to tell him more than seven watchmen that sit above in a high tower.—Ecclesiastes 37.

Do not only contend with evil thoughts or inclinations of the will, but get thyself earnestly engaged with a good thought or purpose until those evil thoughts vanish.—Anselm.

One who would "put off the old man" must not only be teachable at some points, but at all points relating to his character, his daily pursuits, his habits, and his innermost thinking... Divine Love is the great instructor of mankind; and in proportion as one sets himself to learn his lessons ungrudgingly, courageously, and lovingly, he will learn them quickly and thoroughly.—Christian Science Sentinel.

If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above... Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him.—Colossians 3.

SALT

In all ages, salt has been hal- lowed with some mystical worth. The very expressions, "The salt of the earth" and "He is worth his salt," suggest this.

It exemplifies the way mankind has learned, by observation and everyday experience, to appreciate the significance of numerous phenomena and the value of many things and practices long before scientific investigation offered factual warrant.

Experience must have taught earlyman that the intake of an adequate amount of salt was essential to his well-being. In certain sections where neither sea water nor natural salt mines are available, the substance was as precious as gold. There are other food elements as rare and necessary as salt, yet these never attained quite the exalted position of salt.

Several English experimenters subjected themselves to voluntary salt starvation. The effects were extraordinary. The experimenters suffered excessive fatigue and a general sense of exhaustion.

Men heretofore capable of doing a full day's work now found themselves breathless and fatigued on going up two flights of stairs. One says, "I found my arm getting tired while I was shaving, and one day at breakfast I actually noticed my jaws getting tired eating toast."

Two of the experimental subjects showed marked diminution in mental activity. In fact, some became so apathetic that they were content to sit and do nothing for hours on end, though previously they were keenly active and interested experimenters. In addition to the fatigue and mental lethargy, the experimenters suffered a loss of appetite and nausea.

These symptoms resemble closely those of Addison's disease. This ailment, in which the body loses much of its salt, is charged to a failure of the cortical (the rind or outer) portion of the suprarenal glands, two small glands of internal secretion located on the upper portion of the kidneys.

CITY OF DENVER MAKING INITIAL 'SAILING' TODAY

Finest Streamliners in World in Daily Service Now

Two new Streamliners, the "City of Denver", which are the fastest long distance passenger trains in the world, speeded on their way from Denver and Chicago on initial trips over the Chicago & NorthWestern-Union Pacific lines today.

Both trains were properly christened in special dedicatory ceremonies yesterday afternoon—the Chicago one by Miss Fredrica Sargent, daughter of Fred W. Sar-

TIME IN DIXON

The streamliner "City of Denver" passes through Dixon, eastbound, at 7:42 each morning and westbound at 7:49 each evening.

The schedule of the other streamliners on the NorthWestern-Union Pacific provides they pass through Dixon as follows:

"City of Portland," east bound, at 7:52 A. M. on the 4th, 10th, 16th, 22nd and 28th of each month. In the dedicatory ceremonies which were broadcast over a western chain, Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago & NorthWestern, W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific, Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, Mayor Stapleton of Denver, and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago were featured.

Trip In 16 Hours

These trains, which left Chicago at 6:20 Dixon time, last night, and 1:20 Denver time, yesterday afternoon, 9th, 15th, 21st and 27th days of each month; west bound at 7:44 P. M. on the 4th, 10th, 16th, 22nd and 28th of each month.

"City of San Francisco," east bound, at 7:52 A. M. on the 4th, 10th, 16th, 22nd and 28th of each month; west bound, at 7:44 P. M. on the 5th, 11th, 17th, 23rd and 29th of each month.

"City of Los Angeles," east bound, at 7:52 A. M. on the 5th, 11th, 17th, 23rd and 29th of each month; west bound, at 7:44 P. M. on the 6th, 12th, 18th, 24th and last day of each month.

gent, president of the Chicago & NorthWestern Railway, and the Denver one by Miss Johnson, smoon, will make the run in 16 hours flat at an average speed of 35.5 miles per hour for the 1048 miles of the trip.

The train that left Chicago last night reached Denver at 9:20 Mountain time, today, while the Denver train arrived at Chicago at 9:20 this morning.

The train that left Chicago will make only 11 stops before reaching Denver. The stops will be: Clinton, Iowa, 8:27 P. M.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 9:42 P. M.; Boone, Iowa, 11:33 P. M.; Council Bluffs, Iowa, 1:45 A. M.; Omaha, Neb., 1:55 A. M.; Grand Island, Neb., 4:09 A. M.; North Platte, Neb., 6:00 A. M.; Sterling, Colo., 7:11 A. M.; La Salle, Colo., 8:34 A. M., before reaching Denver at 9:20 A. M. The same stops will be made on the eastbound "City of Denver" before arriving at Chicago at 10:20 this morning. The "City of Denver" trains, which will be in service from now on, represent the latest development in streamlined construction and incorporate many features which will be exclusive with the North Western and Union Pacific. These trains are the only streamline trains operated between Chicago and Denver which have Pullman sleeping car service. Sleeping accommodations for 82 passengers are available. The two coach lounges will have seating capacity for 100 passengers, giving the train a total capacity, all subject to advance reservations, for 182 passengers.

Are 12 Car Trains

In addition, each train includes two cocktail lounges, a diner lounge and an observation lounge car. Two baggage cars, a mail car and two power cars make up the balance of the train. In all, the 12 car trains are 865 feet in length.

The interior dimensions of every car is five inches wider than any previous cars of conventional steam trains or any streamline train heretofore constructed by any railroad. The interior height is the same as conventional standard cars. All berths, both upper and lower, are wider than standard and all seats in the coaches are wider than standard.

The power plant of the train includes two 1200 horsepower diesel engines, each directly connected to a generator providing electricity for the eight traction motors (four on each power car). The tandem-arranged power plants, each housed in its own car, are so constructed that they may be operated individually or jointly and each capable of individually pulling the train.

Speed of 110 Miles

The "City of Denver" power plants are capable of safe speeds well in excess of 110 miles per hour. Wide double shatterproof plate glass windows give unusual vision, the entire observation lounge being in effect a large saloon.

An inter-communicating telephone system, developed especially for the North Western-Union Pacific streamliners, affords contact between the crews and the engineers. All-wave radio sets in each of the coach lounges as well as in the dinner lounge provide entertainment and news features for the passenger guests.

In the Pullman sleeping cars every upper berth has outside win-

Slotted Wing Plane Called Spin-Proof by Inventors

dows, also an exclusive North Western-Union Pacific streamliner feature.

Registered Nurse

Still another North Western-Union Pacific feature, is the registered nurse-stewardesses who are on duty on the "City of Denver." These young women look after the comfort of passengers in the coaches as well as in the sleeping cars and in the several lounges. They are all experienced, highly-trained nurses.

The inauguration of the two "City of Denver" trains gives the Chicago and North Western and Union Pacific Lines five streamline trains in transcontinental and mountain service—the "City of Portland," the "City of Los Angeles," the "City of San Francisco," and the two "City of Denver," trains.

The "tourist" industry has fallen to the half million mark in France, as compared with 3,000,000 foreign visitors before the World War.

The French, as a rule, eat nothing until midday, except a roll with a cup of chocolate upon arising.

A MOON that lies on its back is known popularly as the dried moon, since, being bowl shaped, it is said to hold water. The tilted moon, from which water would spill, is a "wet moon." As the horns of the crescent always point away from the sun, the angle at which the moon is tilted depends entirely upon the zone of the earth from which it is observed.

People become so accustomed to thinking of wedding cakes during the month of June, that they are very likely to forget all about birthday cakes. Not, however, if the cake is as nice as the one Jackie Leonard had on his seventh anniversary Tuesday, if we are to believe what he and seven of his little friends have to say about it. Darrel Wadsworth, Gene Kump, Hewitt Parkinson, Ronald Wallace, Donald Smith, Jerry Sanderson, and Donnie Findlay enjoyed an afternoon of fun and refreshments, and each wished Jackie at least seventy-seven more such anniversaries. And so do we, Jackie.

The Smile class of the Lutheran church had a picnic at the Pines on Tuesday evening.

ROCHELLE NEWS

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle—Action will be taken in the near future by the city council to condemn the Main street bridge in the south end of Rochelle as the first step toward obtaining a new structure.

Commissioner of Streets and Alleys, Theodore L. Schade, reported at Monday council meeting that it was necessary for the council to condemn the bridge before state funds can be secured to replace the antiquated bridge which has been condemned for several years by structural engineers. The bridge was erected forty-four years ago.

City Attorney Fred E. Gardner will be instructed to draw up a letter in behalf of the city council and forward it to the state commissioner of highways and to Representative Frank B. Wilson with a view toward obtaining state motor fuel tax aid. The bridge is now on state route 17.

Commissioner Schade was anxious to have it replaced at this time, as a precaution against the added strain to which the old steel structure would be subjected.

W. F. Vlerke has been granted a contract to repair the eavespouts on Central school and it is expected that the work will start soon.

A total of 14,378 bottles of milk and 90 pints of cod-liver oil were dispensed in the grade and parochial schools of Rochelle during the past year by the Service club, according to their annual report which has just been made public. The total expenditure of the club for health services will be about $650.00. The milk and cod-liver oil were furnished at a cost of $414.75.

The club has completed a most successful year's work in co-operation with Mrs. Lucille Cain, Director of Physical Education and Child

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Two hours before the time set for her marriage, MARCIA CLAY, NICHAM overheard her sister, BOB HANKE, saying to SYLVIA CHAMBERLAIN, "I have you, Sylvia, but I can't afford to marry you." Marcia's father is giving me a job."

Marcia lets them know she has heard the conversation, then goes to her room. Shocked, however, she slips out of the house and goes to the home of her friend, WANDA ANDERSON, who tells Wanda the marriage is off, asks her to break the news to Marcia's parents.

After Wanda leaves Marcia gets into a cab, suddenly remembers she has the tickets for the honeymoon trip to France. Instantly she decides to sail. A young man who is a stranger to her gets on the ship just before the ship is released.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER II

THERE were flowers in the living room of the cabin which Marcia entered—red roses and yellow roses and iris and narcissi and daffodils. There were small trays of canapés and plates of sandwiches and a big bowl of stuffed olives and another tray of olives wrapped in bacon. The cabin, quite patently, expected a party.

A maid came in and offered to unpack. Marcia watched her for a minute. Then she took off her hat, ran a comb through the wavy curls, powdered her tilted nose, and outlined her lips with deeper red. She put on her hat again and went to the quarter-deck. She began to walk, around and around and around the deck. If she could grow tired she might be able to sleep. The orchestra had burst into a "swing" tune. The trumpet was improvising as it flung its wild music down to the sea. She might have been dancing there, with Bob—

Marcia went downstairs, turned on the shower, let the icy needles fall across her lily young body, put on the flesh-colored silk nightgown with the real Chantilly lace, and climbed into bed. Then she heard bells ringing and remembered. Ship's bells. She was sailing alone on her wedding night! The tears that had been so far away all evening came then in a hot, swift storm. When they ceased she lay back, quiet at last. She slept until the stewardess called her in the morning.

"Perhaps M. demoiselle will breakfast in bed?" Marcia stretched lazily. Why not? There was nothing for which to get up. Nothing. Her body was weak and tired, as though it could be moved only through supreme effort. Yet if she stayed in bed she would think.

"I'm going to the dining room, thank you," she said.

HALF an hour later, dressed in a yellow flannel sports frock whose big wooden buttons matched the brown of her polo coat and felt sports hat, she came into the dining room and sat down at her place at the first officer's table. A man and woman at the table exchanged glances as Marcia was seated. She gazed at them curiously before she ordered a double orange juice, toast and bacon, and coffee.

Breakfast over, she went on deck, sat down in her chair, and sent a deck steward for magazines and books. Someone paused in front of her and Marcia raised lazy eyes. It was a friend of her mother's, a woman who had been invited to the wedding, who had a tongue for gossip.

"Mrs. Jameson, I didn't know you were sailing on our boat," she laughed softly. "Did you take a vow to do a good deed every day or is Sir Galahad on your family tree?" she asked the young man. "This is the second time you've rescued me."

"Neither," he answered, and she saw that his voice and smile were sure and slow. "I happen to know Mrs. Jameson!"

The morning went faster than she had hoped it would. The young man, whose name was Phillip Kirby, drew up a chair and chatted with her at tea-time. He was an electrical engineer, just back from the Pampas where he had been assisting in a bridge construction job. He was big, not handsome, but well-built. His hair was rough and dark and his eyes were strikingly blue against the browned face.

Marcia thought about Bob as she dressed for dinner. Dusk had swept the sea of all color and Marcia was lonely. Maybe she could have made him love her! That thought made her weak and she sat down to consider it.

"Stop!" She stamped a foot in a fragile golden slipper. Bob was probably driving along the Long Island bay tonight, with a white moon in the sky, wash of waves against the shore, and somebody who might be Sylvia or anyone else at his side. Bob would get over it—"What does it matter whom I marry?"

She wanted to sink back on the bed and cry, but she didn't. Instead she went down to dinner. This night, when the trumpet and the clarinet and the drums swung into it, she danced, too.

"Good morning, Mrs. Jameson. I didn't know you were on board. I'm sorry to intrude, Miss Cunningham, can we interest you in some deck tennis? Or would you prefer to throw quilts?"

"You can!" Marcia answered determinedly. "You won't mind, will you, Mrs. Jameson? Deck sports are one of my chief reasons for taking a sea voyage."

Marcia sat quietly while Phil read the message. The only friend she had at sea was being drawn, gently but surely, into the world on shore.

Marcia became aware of the plural pronoun when it was too late.

The woman sat down in the next chair. "It's the last place anyone would have looked for you, Marcia Cunningham. But they might have known! Nobody believed you were in the conservatory with the pink eye!"

"Pink eye?" Marcia murmured. "I hadn't thought of that!"

"Don't think you can escape the public, Marcia. The story came over the radio—it's in the 'Ocean News' and the whole ship's buzzing. Tell me—why did you do it?"

"What did the paper say about it?" Marcia countered.

Mrs. Jameson went on asking questions and Marcia went on dodging them as though they were arrows shot from a vocal bow. When she saw a girl and two men coming down the deck she wished that she knew them and could ask them to rescue her. One of them was familiar, at that. A bronzed face, long legs—the man of the elevator! Hardly knowing that she did it, Marcia raised her eyebrows imploringly. He excused himself from his companions, stepped up, hat in hand.

"Good morning, Mrs. Jameson. I didn't know you were on board. I'm sorry to intrude, Miss Cunningham, can we interest you in some deck tennis? Or would you prefer to throw quilts?"

"You can!" Marcia answered determinedly. "You won't mind, will you, Mrs. Jameson? Deck sports are one of my chief reasons for taking a sea voyage."

WHEN they were out of ear shot she laughed softly. "Did you take a vow to do a good deed every day or is Sir Galahad on your family tree?" she asked the young man. "This is the second time you've rescued me."

"Neither," he answered, and she saw that his voice and smile were sure and slow. "I happen to know Mrs. Jameson!"

The morning went faster than she had hoped it would. The young man, whose name was Phillip Kirby, drew up a chair and chatted with her at tea-time. He was an electrical engineer, just back from the Pampas where he had been assisting in a bridge construction job. He was big, not handsome, but well-built. His hair was rough and dark and his eyes were strikingly blue against the browned face.

Marcia thought about Bob as she dressed for dinner. Dusk had swept the sea of all color and Marcia was lonely. Maybe she could have made him love her! That thought made her weak and she sat down to consider it.

"Neither," he answered, and she saw that his voice and smile were sure and slow. "I happen to know Mrs. Jameson!"

"Stop!" She stamped a foot in a fragile golden slipper. Bob was probably driving along the Long Island bay tonight, with a white moon in the sky, wash of waves against the shore, and somebody who might be Sylvia or anyone else at his side. Bob would get over it—"What does it matter whom I marry?"

She wanted to sink back on the bed and cry, but she didn't. Instead she went down to dinner. This night, when the trumpet and the clarinet and the drums swung into it, she danced, too.

"Good morning, Mrs. Jameson. I didn't know you were on board. I'm sorry to intrude, Miss Cunningham, can we interest you in some deck tennis? Or would you prefer to throw quilts?"

"You can!" Marcia answered determinedly. "You won't mind, will you, Mrs. Jameson? Deck sports are one of my chief reasons for taking a sea voyage."

WHEN they were out of ear shot she laughed softly. "Did you take a vow to do a good deed every day or is Sir Galahad on your family tree?" she asked the young man. "This is the second time you've rescued me."

"Neither," he answered, and she saw that his voice and smile were sure and slow. "I happen to know Mrs. Jameson!"

There were acres and acres in which to stroll on the deck. There were squash courts and there was a swimming pool; there were lounges and salons, and the sun shone on bright blue water all the way.

She mentioned Bob to no one until the last night out. For the sixth time she had donned a dinner dress from the trousseau. A molded one of pale lavender silk this time.

She was dancing with Phil when he said, "Let's go on deck. I need to breathe. Tomorrow I'm going to see Camilla!"

They sat in their chairs, watching the rain play darkly on the water save when the lightning made a quick green path through the sky. They were comfortable. "Camilla?" Marcia took up the theme.

"The girl I've loved since I knew that I've had other purposes than having their hair pulled and interrupting games. I've promised regularly and I've been hoping. When I came back from the Pampas I had gone off to Paris, and the tabloid columnists are saying that a young Austrian count, an officer with the embassy at Paris, is the reason. I'm dropping in to see."

RESTORATION OF NEW SALEM IS UNDERWAY

Old Village Once the Home of Lincoln Being Rebuilt

New Salem State Park, Ill., June 19.—(AP)—With visitors virtually the only modern town, restoration of the village where Abraham Lincoln lived a century ago is well underway on this site—aloof from 20th century customs and invention.

Designed as a Lincoln Memorial, 12 buildings have been reconstructed around the only original cabin remaining from the once prosperous settlement. Three more are planned for the near future with seven others to be rebuilt later.

Following in detail facts obtained from history and excavations, the state of Illinois is completely restoring the village, duplicating the character, atmosphere and realism of the original village.

Most of the buildings already reconstructed and those to follow are grouped along the main street extending in an east-west direction the full length of the village. Logs and other wooden materials are treated with a preservative.

The restoration program was first considered 30 years ago, but actual development did not begin until 1932. Much of the work is being done through the civilian conservation corps under the direction of the state department of public works and buildings.

Nothing Modern Allowed
Everything modern is banned from the village proper. Two parking areas, "Kelso Holler," a small, natural bowl arranged for small assemblies, and "The Wagonwheel," restaurant, are hidden from view from the hilltop village.

Geese and chickens occupy pens, gardens are growing and haystacks stand near the barns. With the addition later of a cow or two, hitch fences, shacks, lean-to sheds, hitching posts and signs and the completion of the main part of the program, the village will live again except there will be no inhabitants.

Every building is being furnished with implements, utensils and articles, either original or authentic copies, used a century ago and which are donated to the state and handled under the direction of the Old Salem Lincoln League.

The contract has been let for the reconstruction of "The Rutledge Tavern" in the central part of the village for exhibition purposes only. Within a few months it is planned to rebuild the residences of Isaac Gollamer and the Trent brothers on the western side.

During the next few years, the state expects to restore the first grist and saw mill, the Rowan Herndon residence, Henry Onstott's first house and cooper shop and John Camron's house in the eastern section. Herndon brothers store and Hill's carding machine and wool house in the central section, and residences of Isaac Burrier and Philemon Morris on the west side.

Four guides at the village wear jeans jackets and trousers, liney woolsey shirts and leather boots as part of costumes to portray the role of original residents. Robert Kingery, director of public works and buildings, said that between 30,000 and 40,000 persons visited the park last year and that about 60,000 were expected this year.

Will Require 3 Years
"Restoration of the village will require two or three years more," Kingery said, "but the work will never be complete as far as I am concerned. New material and facts are continually being brought to light."

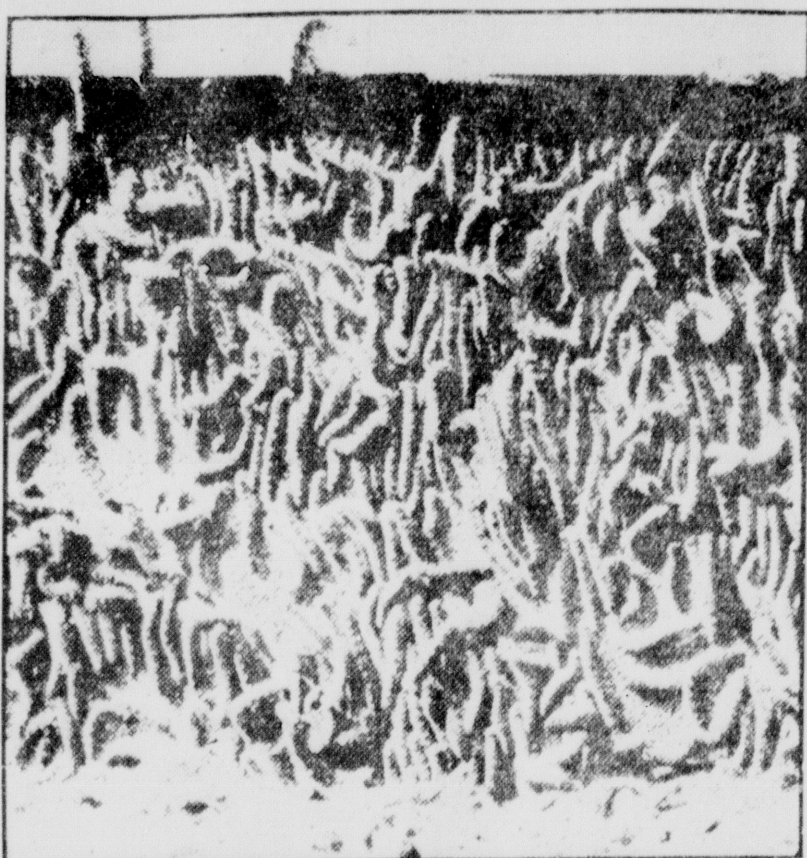

The village is located on a 200-acre tract overlooking the Sangamon river, 25 miles northwest of Springfield, the state capital. Never having more than 100 inhabitants, the settlement was founded in 1829 and flourished for about ten years.

However, with the founding and growth of Petersburg two miles to the north and more accessibly located, its decline began and after 1839 soon went out of existence.

While a resident of the village, Lincoln worked in turn as store clerk, mill hand, soldier in the Black Hawk war, storekeeper, postmaster and deputy surveyor. He was living here when he was defeated for a seat in the legislature in 1832 and elected to terms in 1834 and 1836.

He moved to Springfield when he was admitted to the bar in 1837 in the belief that better opportunities were afforded there. The decline of New Salem had already started.

CATERPILLARS' "HUNGER MARCH" RAVAGES ONTARIO

Crawling in masses over an 8000-square mile area in northern Ontario, tent caterpillars are stripping forests of foliage, halting trains, and periling crops. Here is a remarkable picture of pests on the side of a Lake Penage home.

Swarming up a poplar tree to gorge themselves on green leaves, the caterpillars here are shown near Chelmsford, Ont.

Hundreds of thousands of trees have been stripped bare on the 175-mile front where Ontarians battle desperately to stay the ravenous hordes, where even rivers fail to halt. This strip of forest shows the devastation in the "army's" wake.

The squirming scourge has invaded schools, stores, and homes in its relentless advance. Teachers have allotted regular periods to clear the pests from walls, but they swarm back again. Here a rural pupil is seen sweeping down hundreds.

Washington, June 19.—(AP)— A stay of the Supreme Court's invalidation of the 1934 municipal bankruptcy act was directed in an order received at the court clerk's office.

The order was signed at Philadelphia Wednesday by Associate Justice Roberts. It is to continue until the court can act at its fall meeting on an application made several days ago for rehearing of the case.

The act was intended to aid cities, counties and other political subdivisions reduce their debts through federal bankruptcy courts. It was held by the Supreme Court to violate state's rights.
